Temple of Labor Proposed by "The Times" Is Popular.

Will Make It Possible to Furnish Employers With Men in Every Craft at a Half Hour's Notice-Simflar to the "House of Call" of the

The proposition advanced in The Times for the establishment of a labor bureau in Washington meets with the hearty approval of the District trades unions, and there is a strong probability of the ultimate success of the project, Representative labor men who were interviewed yesterday gave the suggestion their unqualifeid indorsement, and from several it was learned that such a movement has been under discussion for sev-eral months, and the support given it by The Times was hailed with satisfaction Secretary F. H. Padgett, of Columbia Typographical Union, said he had no doubt that the bareau would be of great benefit, both to the employer and employe, and he is heartly in favor of it.

"It is similar," said Mr. Padgett, "to a system the union has already in operation. We designate it by a different name, but the plan is the same.

not there will be great unanimity ameng laboring men in support of it. I read The Times editorial with pleasure, and have but to tay, by way of comment, that the ground was so thoroughly gone over as to leave nothing to be added.

"The system will be beneficial in all the lines laid down, and I am pleased to know that The Times is its champion."

Master Workman W. H. Z. Simmons, of District Assembly, No. 66, said: "I claim that the K. of L. originated that these claim that the K of L originated that files I made the suggestion four or five weeks ago that a labor bureau he established. It was sent down from the District Assembly to the locals, under the rules, for discussion and reports. We are now receiving the returns, and so far as I know there have been no adverse reports. I apprehend there will be none.

"I am glad the proposition is being advected by The Times. It is a necessity here and cannot fail to be of great srevice.

All employers will be glad to have such an opportunity as the bureau would afford of obtaining reliable help in time of need, and there would be corresponding ad-vantages to the umemployed. A telephone callcan underthat system be substituted for a search of half a duy or a day wasted in a fruitless search for a carpenter or brick layer or other mechanic who may be needed im-

"I am a churchman and believe in churches, but I remember, also, that between those who attend religious worship and those who do not, the majority is with the latter class. The K of L has, as one of its main teners, the elevation and conclining of man. It does more than the churches in this direction, because it reaches so many more of the people. "With this in view, I am greatly inter-

The Knights of Labor locals have in contemplation the erection of a massive tem-ple, that will accommodate every labor or ganization that shall choose to occupy it. This is in view as a means of economy and for mutual benefit in other directions. In case the plan succeeds, it will embrace the long-coveted free library. The building will be modern in all its appointments and in architecture, and a model of its kind.
